This is not restricted to computer processing but includes manual files and verbal discussions.

GENERAL DATA PROTECTION POLICY

Introduction

David Travers QC needs to gather and use certain information about individuals.

These can include clients, customers, suppliers, business contacts, employees and other people the practice has a relationship with or may need to contact.

This Policy describes how this personal data must be collected, handled, stored to meet the practice's data protection standards – and to comply with the law.

Why this Policy Exists

This General Data Protection Policy exists to ensure that David Travers:

- Complies with GDPR and follows good practice
- Protects the rights of staff, clients, customers and partners
- Is open about how individuals' data is stored and processed
- Is protected from the risks of a data breach

This Policy applies the provisions of the GDPR to David Travers' practice and ensures compliance with the same.

Data Protection Law

The GDPR describes how organisations must collect, handle, and store personal information.

These rules apply regardless of whether data is stored electronically, on paper or on other media.

To comply with the law, personal information must be collected and used fairly, stored safely and not disclosed unlawfully.

The GDPR is underpinned by six important principles. They say that personal data must be:

1. Processed lawfully, fairly, and transparently

2. Collected for specific, explicit, and legitimate purposes

3. Adequate, relevant, and limited to what is necessary for processing

4. Accurate and, where necessary, kept up to date.

5. Kept in a form such that the Data Subject can be identified only as long as is necessary for processing

6. Processed in a manner that ensures appropriate security of the personal data

This Policy will be updated as necessary to reflect best practice in data management, security, and control and to ensure compliance with any changes or amendments made to the GDPR.

People, Risks and Responsibilities

People

This Policy applies to:

- David Travers
- All employees or staff of David Travers or Chambers, including volunteers, pupils and mini pupils, work experience students or support staff
- All contractors, suppliers and other people working on behalf of David Travers

It applies to all data David Travers holds relating to identifiable individuals. This can include but is not limited to names of individuals, postal addresses, email addresses, telephone numbers, financial data, business names, plus any other personal sensitive information relating to individuals.

Risks

If personal data is not processed in accordance with this Policy and the GDPR generally, there is a risk of sanction against David Travers by way of ICO penalty, prosecution or reputational damage, or of loss occasioned by compensation, damages and costs payable under a civil claim or complaint by a data subject.

Responsibilities

David Travers and everyone who works for him either directly or indirectly has responsibility for ensuring data is collected, stored and handled appropriately.

This Policy will be updated as necessary to reflect best practice in data management, security, and control and to ensure compliance with any changes or amendments made to the GDPR.

General Data Protection Policy Information

David Travers will, through appropriate management and strict application of criteria and controls:

- Observe fully conditions regarding the fair collection and use of information
- Meet his legal obligations to specify the purposes for which information is used
- Collect and process appropriate information, and only to the extent that it is needed to fulfil his operational needs or to comply with any legal requirements
- Ensure the quality of information used
- Ensure appropriate retention and disposal of information
- Ensure that the rights of people about whom information is held, can be fully exercised under the GDPR. These include:
    - The right to be informed
    - The right of access
    - The right to rectification
    - The right to erase
    - The right to restrict processing

  - The right to data portability
  - The right to object
  - Rights in relation to automated decision making and profiling.

- Take appropriate technical and organisational security measures to safeguard personal information
- Ensure that personal information is not transferred outside the EEA without suitable safeguards
- Treat people justly and fairly whatever their age, religion, disability, gender, sexual orientation or ethnicity when dealing with requests for information
- Set out clear procedures for responding to requests for information

Data Storage

Information and records relating to data subjects will be stored securely and will only be accessible to authorised staff and Data Processors.

Information will be stored for only as long as it is needed or required statute and will be disposed of appropriately.

David Travers will ensure all personal and company data is non-recoverable from any computer system when that system comes to be disposed of.

Data Access and Accuracy

All data subjects have the right to access the information David Travers holds about them, except where specific exemptions apply to a legal professional. David Travers will also take reasonable steps ensure that this information is kept up to date.

In addition, David Travers will ensure that:

- Everyone processing personal information understands that they are contractually responsible for following good data protection practice
- Everyone processing personal information is appropriately trained to do so

- Everyone processing personal information is appropriately supervised
- Anybody interested in making enquiries about handling personal information knows what to do
- Enquiries about handling personal information are dealt with promptly and courteously
- The manner in which personal information is handled is explained clearly
- There will be a regular review and audit of the ways personal information is held, managed and used
- There will be a regular assessment and evaluation of the methods and performance in relation to handling personal information
- All Chambers staff are aware that a breach of the rules and procedures identified in this Policy may lead to disciplinary action being taken against them

Disclosure

David Travers may share data with agencies such as government departments and other relevant parties.

The data subject will be made aware in most circumstances how and with whom their information will be shared. There are circumstances where the law allows David Travers to disclose data (including sensitive data) without the data subject's consent.

These are:

- Carrying out a legal duty or as authorised by an appropriate government body
- Protecting vital interests of a data subject or other person
- Where the data subject has already made the information public
- Conducting any legal proceedings, obtaining legal advice or defending any legal rights

- Monitoring for equal opportunities purposes – i.e. race, disability or religion

- Providing a confidential service where the data subject's consent cannot be obtained or where it is reasonable to proceed without consent: e.g. where David Travers would wish to avoid forcing stressed or ill data subjects to provide consent signatures.

Data Protection Training

David Travers will ensure that any employees that work on data controlled by him are trained in data protection obligations and particularly this Policy annually.

If new members of staff commence work they will be provided with data protection training within the first month of employment.

David Travers keeps a register of all training provided to staff.

Non-Conformance

David Travers will self-report any data breaches to the ICO in accordance with the Data Breach Checklist below.

Any employee, staff member or worker of David Travers or of Chambers found to have violated this Policy may be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment.

Any third-party Data Processor which processes data controlled by David Travers which fails to conform to the obligations under the GDPR will have action taken against it, either to terminate, suspend or reconsider such an instruction.

In case of any queries or questions in relation to this Policy please contact David Travers via Chambers.

Practical Information on Data Processing

David Travers processes personal data and sensitive personal data as follows:

1. Personal data is usually received either by hard copy or electronically. Hard copy personal data is usually received in Chambers where it is stored securely in the Clerks Room or equivalent until collected in person by David Travers or sent to him via an established and reliable delivery service. Electronic personal data will usually be received by email or via download link or sometimes on removable storage media such as DVDs or compact disks. Such personal data will sometimes be processed by Chambers' clerks on behalf of David Travers QC by either by virtue of being the original recipient of the personal data from the professional client, or by turning electronic data into hard copy or both.

2. Personal data making up contact details and emails will be stored on Chambers' case management system and on email systems and on devices operated by Chambers' clerks as well as on David Travers' systems, in order that data subjects can be contacted by David Travers, Chambers' clerks and by other members of Chambers when instructed on a case, or if a case needs to be returned inside or outside of Chambers, and for Chambers to process David Travers' fee invoices.

3. When hard copy papers are received by David Travers QC they will then be stored in a secure environment or taken out for the purpose of Court hearings or to be worked on remotely in accordance with his Mobile Working Policy.

4. When electronic documents or files are passed to David Travers QC they will be saved onto David Travers' work system, which uses cloud computing to store these documents remotely and locally on one or more desktop computer, laptop, tablet computer and smartphone.

5. Electronic documents which are processed by Chambers' clerks as well as being passed to David Travers by being attached to email will be saved to Chambers' case management system by the clerks and held securely by Chambers as a Data Processor for David Travers.

6. When a case is complete the hard copy papers will be returned to the professional client if there is one. Papers relating to a direct access client's case will be retained unless requested otherwise. Save that in both cases hard copies may be retained in accordance with the Data Retention and Disposal Policy.

7. When a case is complete the folders containing the electronic file storing all data relating to that case will be marked accordingly, and may be retained in accordance with the Data Retention and Disposal Policy.

8. Personal data may be shared with third parties, including third-party Data Processors, such as witnesses, experts, other members of Chambers, employees (whether temporary or permanent) of David Travers and of Chambers, judges or other decision-makers or tribunals, or recipients of marketing materials, but only ever for David Travers' legitimate interests as a barrister. David Travers QC will at all times adhere to the BSB Code of Conduct on client confidentiality.

MOBILE WORKING POLICY

Introduction

This Policy applies to David Travers QC and any Data Processor instructed in relation to his practice who may remove case files, papers or other personal data from Chambers or such other secure environment in which they are for the time being held for the purposes of work.

Hard Copy Materials

David Travers will adhere to the following rules on paper and other hard copy materials:

1. David Travers will not remove client files or data from Chambers or such other secure environment in which they are for the time being held for any reason other than the carrying out of legitimate processing activities.

2. All files or case papers leaving Chambers will be transported by David Travers personally, or by a responsible nominee who is aware of and has acknowledged his or her obligations in respect of data security or via an established and reliable delivery service.

3. If being transported by private car, papers will, where practicable, be kept out of sight. Case files will not be left in a car unattended, save to the extent necessarily incidental to travelling by car and where the risk is less of a risk than them being left. Case files will not be left in a car overnight.

4. Case files or papers will not be left open and unattended in any location where they may be read by other individuals.

5. Case files will not be read or worked on in public in circumstances where they can be read by other individuals.

6. David Travers will dispose of hard copy papers which contain any client data (including handwritten notes, post-its etc.) only by secure shredding to a standard appropriate for the destruction of confidential waste.

Electronic Devices

David Travers will adhere to the following rules when processing personal data on electronic devices:

1. When accessing emails from a smartphone or tablet, the device will be suitably protected by password or biometric technology, and, if appropriate, encrypted.

2. Case files, including electronic files, will not be read or worked on in public in circumstances where they can be read by other individuals.

3. Extreme care will be taken to ensure that client data and personal data relating to data subjects contained on laptops, removable devices and removable storage media are not lost or stolen.

4. Laptops and other removable devices will never be left unattended in public places or left in a car overnight

5. The material on any laptop or other removable device will no more than is necessary to enable work to be carried out efficiently

6. The electronic storage of case files will carry with it minimum levels of security, namely that all devices containing work-related data (whether or not this data amounts to personal data under the GDPR) will:

    a) Have care taken with them such that malware or virus infection shall be avoided

    b) Be password-protected

    c) Have up-to-date anti-virus and anti-spyware software

    d) Be subjected to regular virus scans

    e) Be protected by an appropriate firewall for the computer used

    f) Connect only to secure wifi or mobile data internet connections, or public wifi connections via a virtual private network unless, in the particular circumstances, direct connection to a public wifi connection does not pose any realistic threat of compromising the security of the data

g) Have regular operating software updates

h) Work in progress will be regularly backed up and saved to a secure cloud computing folder or, if physical back-up media are created they shall be kept secure.

7. The use of removable storage media (such as memory sticks, compact disk, DVDs, removable hard disk drives and USB drives) will only be used to store personal data controlled by David Travers with his express authorisation, and only when necessary. Where Chambers receives removable storage media carrying data controlled by David Travers QC from clients or third parties it will hold these securely until collected by him and such removable media will only be transferred in physical form via via an established and reliable delivery service.

8. Laptop computers will be whole-disk encrypted to FIPS 140-2 or CCTM (CESG Claims Tested Mark) standards or to such other standards as may be approved by David Travers' professional clients.

9. David Travers maintains a record of all computers and devices used for storing or working on case files. The record will be maintained and updated as appropriate and records the type, model and serial number of each device, together with the details and currency of any anti-virus, anti-spyware, encryption or other security software maintained on each machine. David Travers will only use devices that are on this record for processing client data.

DATA RETENTION & DISPOSAL POLICY

Introduction

In the course of carrying out various functions, David Travers QC creates and holds a wide range of recorded information. Records, which expression includes electronic data and other information and documents, will be properly retained to enable him to meet the business needs of work at the self-employed regulated Bar, legal requirements imposed on him by the professional regulator or under other legislation, to evidence events or agreements in the event of allegations, claims or other disputes and to ensure that any records of historic value are preserved.

The untimely destruction of records could affect:

1. The conduct of David Travers' business
2. The ability of David Travers to defend allegations in relation to his work and professional conduct and defend or initiate and pursue legal actions
3. David Travers' ability to comply with statutory obligations
4. David Travers' reputation

Conversely, the permanent retention of records is undesirable and disposal is necessary to free up storage space, reduce administrative burdens and to ensure that David Travers does not unlawfully retain records for longer than necessary (particularly those containing personal data).

Purpose

The purpose of this Policy is to set out the length of time that records held by David Travers will be retained and the processes to review the records as to any further retention or for disposing of records at the end of the retention period.

David Travers demonstrates accountability to proper data retention through the retention of records and by demonstrating that disposal decisions are taken with authority and in accordance with due process.

The Policy helps to ensure that David Travers operates in compliance with the GDPR and any other legislative or regulatory retention obligations.

Scope

This Policy covers all data, information and records processed by David Travers as a Data Controller wherever created or held and on whatever media, including: on paper; in electronic files (including databases, word processing documents, power point presentations, spreadsheets, webpages, PDF files, and e-mails); and photographs, scanned images, compact disks DVDs and videos.

This Policy covers all data, information and records processed by David Travers as a Data Controller wherever created or held and such records may include, but are not limited to: client files; notes of conferences; minutes of meetings; submissions from external parties; contracts and invoices; registers; legal advice; file notes; financial accounts; employee information; and publications.

Application

The Policy applies equally to David Travers as a Data Controller and whoever or whatever may act as a Data Processor for him including employees (whether temporary or permanent) of him or of Chambers, service providers, contractors, and any, and all, associated persons who work for David Travers QC.

Minimum Retention Period

Unless a record has been marked for ‘permanent preservation’ David Travers’ policy will be review the retention of the records during the tenth year after the conclusion for the matter to which the record relates. This minimum retention period has been formulated on the basis that this allows a client or third party to issue proceedings or a complaint against David Travers QC within then applicable limitation period of six years, plus a period of three years to allow for appeals or the active period of a case to elapse before limitation starts to run.

The minimum retention period has been calculated taking account of:

1. The business needs of David Travers’ practice

2. The applicable legislation

3. The need for David Travers to respond to complaints

4. The ability of David Travers to defend complaints or take or defend legal action.

Disposal

What is Disposal?

David Travers QC is responsible for ensuring that all data held is periodically reviewed at least annually to determine whether any retention periods have expired. The rebuttable presumption shall be that the records shall be disposed of during the tenth year after the conclusion for the matter to which the record relates. Unless the retention of the record is required for a specific further period in order to facilitate David Travers' practice, or there is another proper reason to retain the record the record will be destroyed, or returned to the professional or lay client as appropriate.

Making and Recording the Disposal Decision

The review will be conducted by David Travers there will be a considered appraisal of the contents of the data, the outcome of which shall be recorded in writing.

The disposal decision will be reached having regard to:

- The on-going business and accountability needs of David Travers' practice
- The applicable legislation
- Whether the record has any long-term historical or research value
- The best practice in the legal industry
- Any costs associated with continued storage versus costs of destruction;
- The legal, political and reputational risks associated with keeping, destroying or losing control over the record.

Factors which may affect a decision to destroy data

No destruction of data will take place unless:

- The data is no longer required by any part of David Travers' practice
- No work is outstanding on any instructions on the case in question or any related case
- No litigation or investigation is current or pending which affects the data
- There are no current or pending FOIA or GDPR subject access requests which affect the record.

Further Retention

Upon review the data may be retained for a further period if it has on-going business value or if there is specific legislation which requires it to be held for a further period.

Destruction of Paper Records

Destruction will be carried out in a way that preserves the confidentiality of the data. Non-confidential records may be placed in ordinary rubbish bins or recycling bins. Confidential records will always be placed in confidential waste bins or shredded and placed in paper rubbish sacks for collection by an approved disposal firm. All copies, including security copies, preservation copies and backup copies will be destroyed at the same time in the same manner.

Destruction of Electronic Records

All electronic records will be either physically destroyed or wiped. Deletion of the files simply by over-writing will not be sufficient, save that the data may be deleted pending the eventual physical destruction or wiping of the device in question.

SUBJECT ACCESS REQUEST POLICY

Subject Access Requests

All individuals who are the subject of personal data held by David Travers QC are entitled to:

1. Ask what information David Travers holds about them and why

2. Ask how to gain access to it

3. Be informed how to keep it up to date

4. Be informed how the company is meeting its data protection obligations

If an individual contacts David Travers requesting this information, this is called a subject access request. This request is to be dealt with promptly and in any event within one month. David Travers can be contacted at the address at the top of this Policy.

David Travers may carry out any of the following before releasing data further to a subject access request:

1. Request government issued photographic proof of identification before sharing any information.

2. Check if there are any exemptions contained within the GDPR which prevent the sharing of this information with the data subject

3. Clarify and request further details about the subject access request if it is unclear before providing a copy of all information within one calendar month of receipt of a clear request.

DATA BREACH MANAGEMENT CHECKLIST

Introduction

This Policy will apply as a Checklist to guide David Travers QC through the steps necessary upon any data breach or suspected data breach occurring in respect of data for which he is the Data Controller

A data protection breach is defined as "a breach of security leading to the accidental or unlawful destruction, loss, alteration, unauthorised disclosure of, or access to, personal data transmitted, stored or otherwise processed".

David Travers QC will also follow the Chambers Data Protection Breach Reporting Procedure under the Chambers Data Protection, Privacy and Information Management Policy where appropriate.

Investigation

Record details of the data breach:

1. Describe the incident in as much detail as possible.
2. When did the incident happen?
3. How did the incident happen?
4. Has there been any delay between the breach happening and the breach being investigated?
5. What is the scope of the breach?
6. What data has been breached?
7. How many data subjects are affected?
8. Are any of the data subjects at risk as a result of the breach?
9. What type of information is involved? Is it commercial or personal?
10. What can happen to the information? How could it be used to a detrimental effect? What action could be taken to deal with those effects?

11. If data has been lost or stolen, are there any safeguards in place such as encryption?

Containment

Record what technical systems have been affected:

1. Emails
2. Cloud or server storage
3. Case or practice management systems
4. Mobile devices
5. Home or Chambers internet access

What can you do to prevent further loss or consequences?

Notification

Consider who needs to be notified of the breach:

1. Instructing solicitors or department, or direct access client if appropriate
2. Individuals who are the subjects of the data
3. Chambers' Data Protection Officer
4. Head of Chambers
5. Chambers' Senior Clerk
6. Email and/or Chambers' case management systems service provider
7. Police
8. Bar Standards Board
9. Information Commissioner's Office

10. Professional indemnity insurer

11. CJSM

Sources of Assistance

Consider sources of assistance:

1. Independent legal advice
2. PR assistance in relation to media attention
3. IT providers
4. Chambers

Communications

Ensure that every person provided with information about the incident understands the need for confidentiality.

Ensure that there is a clear communication strategy with a central point of contact.

All communications relevant to the incident should be restricted to an agreed group of people to avoid any unintended waiver of privilege or other unplanned disclosure of information.

Evaluation

Assess why the breach occurred and review systems to prevent recurrence.

Prepare a report in writing for the ICO if the data breach is reportable.

JOINT CONTROLLERS DATA SHARING AGREEMENT

Between

David Travers QC

Registered Data Controller Ref No. Z7371732

And

Any Data Controller instructing David Travers to carry out regulated activities as a barrister

Dated

The date instructions are received

Introduction

1. The parties to this Agreement will work together to advise, provide expertise to or represent lay clients in legal proceedings. The exchange of information facilitates this partnership and should always adhere to legal requirements under the GDPR.

2. For the purposes of this Agreement the Parties jointly handle and process personal data and sensitive personal data as defined in the GDPR and are accordingly Joint Data Controllers within the meaning of the GDPR. This joint control is primarily applicable to the personal data of a lay client(s) where the instructing party is David Travers' professional client.

Parties

3. This Joint Controllers Data Sharing Agreement ("Agreement") is between:

   (1) David Travers as a Data Controller

   And

   (2) Any Data Controller instructing David Travers

(each “a Joint Party” and jointly “the Joint Parties”)

Supplemental Agreement

4. This Agreement is supplemental to any other separate contract entered into between the Joint Parties and exists to ensure that there are sufficient security guarantees in place for the safe sharing of personal data and sensitive personal data in accordance with the GDPR.

5. Information to which this Agreement relates must be handled in accordance with the appropriate legislative and regulatory environment and each Joint Party’s relevant policies and procedures.

Commencement of Agreement

6. This Agreement will commence immediately upon David Travers receiving formal instructions from a Data Controller to carry out any task appropriate for a barrister and upon the transfer of any personal data to David Travers, if transferred prior to formal instruction, and where David Travers and the other Joint Party are Joint Data Controllers.

Length of Agreement

7. This Agreement will remain in place until terminated by either Joint Party and will apply to all cases for all clients that the Joint Parties work on together, now and in the future, unless expressly stated otherwise.

Definitions

8. For the purposes of this agreement “Relevant Information” shall mean any or all personal or sensitive personal data (as defined by the GDPR) relating to a client or clients or a case on which the Joint Parties are working together, or the personal or sensitive personal data of data subjects within that client or clients, or connected with the case in question in any fashion.

Purpose and Objectives of the Data Sharing

9. The purpose of the sharing of data detailed in this Agreement is to provide legal advice and representation to the client or clients.

Transfer and Frequency of Data

10. Relevant Information will be shared as and when required for both Joint Parties to discharge their responsibilities to the client(s) and to provide representation in the case appropriately.

Access & Security

11. Under no circumstances should Relevant Information be left unattended or processed in any way that is unsecure.

12. Each Joint Party shall notify the others as soon as is practicable, and at a maximum within five working days, if they become aware of any unauthorised or unlawful processing, loss, damage or destruction of the Relevant Information. This includes any 'near misses' and any incidents reported to the ICO. It is the responsibility of the Joint Party managing the incidents to investigate, report and escalate them as appropriate to the necessary regulatory bodies.

13. Relevant Information will be shared on a strict need-to-know basis only and will only be processed by employees or third-party Data Processors of either Joint Party in order for them to perform their duties in accordance with one or more of the defined purposes.

14. Each Joint Party shall ensure that any processor, agent or subcontractor instructed by them to process Relevant Information will process such information in accordance with the GDPR, and that all appropriate data sharing or processing agreements or contracts are in place.

15. Each Party will ensure that all staff with access to the Relevant Information have received appropriate data protection or information governance training and are aware of the confidential nature and duties placed on those processing such information. This includes ensuring they have appropriate monitoring policies and procedures in place for all staff.

16. Failure to meet the standards within this Agreement will result in Relevant Information not being shared, which could result in the termination of this and other service agreements.

Processing of Relevant Information

17. Each Party remains responsible for the Relevant Information held and processed within their own systems.

18. Each Joint Party will ensure Relevant Information will not be processed outside of the European Economic Area without the appropriate safeguards being in place to satisfy the GDPR.

19. Each party will comply fully with the GDPR and other relevant legislation. Particular attention must be paid to Principle 6 and ensuring the security of Relevant Information and systems. Each Joint Party will protect such information from unauthorised or unlawful processing, accidental loss, destruction or damage, and acknowledge that they have implemented the required technical and organisational measures.

GDPR and the Freedom of Information Act 2000 Subject Access Requests

20. Each Party is responsible for complying with complaints, queries and objections regarding Relevant Information sharing, subject access and freedom of information requests directed to their respective organisation in line with the relevant legislation or policies in practice. Each individual request must be dealt with on a case by case basis and the consequences of their decisions (for example, to object to sharing) must be clearly explained to the individuals in writing by the party receiving the request.

21. Each Party shall inform the other of any data subject access requests made in respect data which is jointly controlled.

Retention periods

22. Relevant Information will be retained in line with each party's data retention policy, which both parties confirm meets the requirements under the GDPR.

Disposal of information

23. Both Parties are individually responsible for deleting or safely disposing of Relevant Information when it is no longer required in line with their own data protection policies, which both parties confirm meet the requirements of the GDPR.

Termination and Variation

24. Any Party may terminate this Agreement by giving one calendar month's notice in writing to the other Parties. The terms of this agreement remain binding on any information shared and retained throughout its lifecycle, irrespective of whether the party remains a current signatory to this agreement.

25. Any proposed changes to the Parties involved in this Agreement, to the purposes of the information sharing, the nature or type of information shared or manner in which the information is to be processed and any other suggested changes to the terms of this Agreement must be notified immediately to key contacts within each party so that the impact of the proposed changes can be assessed.

26. This Agreement shall be governed and construed in accordance with English Law and the parties agree to submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Courts of England and Wales.

DATA CONTROLLER AND DATA PROCESSOR AGREEMENT

Between

David Travers QC

Registered Data Controller Ref No. Z7371732

And

Any Data Processor instructed or contracted by David Travers to carry out any form of data processing

Dated

The date instructions are received, or a contract for services is formed

Introduction

1. David Travers will instruct Data Processors to act to process personal data for which David Travers is the applicable Data Controller.

2. Because the services require the processing of personal data and sensitive personal data, the GDPR is engaged. David Travers remains the Data Controller and legally responsible for that data processing under the GDPR.

3. The 6th Principle of the GDPR requires a Data Controller, when using the services of another organisation or company to process personal data on their behalf (a Data Processor), to:

    a) Choose a Data Processor which can provide sufficient guarantees about their data security measures to protect the personal data they will be processing as part of the contract

    b) Take reasonable steps to make sure those security measures are in place and sustained

    c) Document what the Data Processor is allowed to do with the personal data in a written contract. The contract must include: what they can and what they cannot do with the personal data; what security measures must be in place to protect the data; what procedures must be followed if there is a data breach; and any other arrangements i.e. sub-contracting, termination of contract etc. that needs to be included to secure and control the data, including the requirement for the Data Processor to comply with obligations equivalent to those imposed on the Data Controller by the 6th Principle.

d) Take steps to ensure that: the personal data remains protected; the liabilities and risks are appropriately managed; data is processed lawfully; and the contract is legally enforceable.

e) Not allow processing of personal data unless the processing is carried out under the written contract, and only when the Data Processor is instructed to process personal data by the Data Controller.

4. David Travers as a Data Controller wishes to engage the services of the Provider as a Data Processor to process personal data which David Travers controls as a Data Controller.

Parties

5. This Data Controller and Data Processor Agreement ("Agreement") is between:

(1) David Travers as a Data Controller

And

(2) Any Data Processor (within the meaning of the GDPR) instructed or contracted by David Travers to provide services where personal data controlled by David Travers is processed ("the Provider")

(each "a Party" and jointly "the Parties")

Supplemental Agreement

6. This Agreement is supplemental to any other separate contract entered into between the Parties (a "Main Contract") and exists to ensure that there are sufficient security guarantees in place for the safe processing of personal data and sensitive personal data in accordance with the GDPR.

7. Information to which this Agreement relates must be handled in accordance with the appropriate legislative and regulatory environment and each Party's relevant policies and procedures.

Commencement of Agreement

8. This Agreement will commence immediately upon David Travers sending instructions to, or contracting with, the Provider to carry out any task involving the processing of personal data and upon the transfer of any personal data to such a Data Processor in any event.

Length of Agreement

9. This Agreement will remain in place until terminated by either Party or until the Provider ceases to process personal data for David Travers under any Main Contract.

Data Controller Rights and Responsibilities

10. David Travers is the Data Controller of the personal data and is responsible for ensuring it is processed fairly and lawfully and in accordance with the GDPR.

11. Under the GDPR, it is the legal duty of a Data Controller to ensure the data protection Principles are met when personal data he or she controls is processed, unless an exemption applies.

12. David Travers remains legally responsible for the data processing carried out by the contracted Provider as Data Processor.

13. David Travers shall not instruct the Provider to process personal data under this Agreement where there is not a secure basis in law for that data to be processed.

14. David Travers, as the Data Controller, is entitled during the term of this Agreement to require the Provider to provide reasonable assurances that technical and organisational security measures adequately protect the personal data it is contracted to process.

Data Processor Responsibilities

15. As a Data Processor the Provider shall at all time process personal data only as instructed to do so by David Travers as the Data Controller and in accordance with the GDPR and this Agreement.

16. The Provider shall have in place appropriate technical and organisational security measures that protect the personal data it is contracted to process on behalf of the Data Controller from unauthorised or unlawful processing, accidental loss, destruction or damage.

17. The Provider shall provide reasonable assurances and guarantees to David Travers as required that those technical and organisational security measures in place are both appropriate and effective in protecting the processing of personal data.

18. The Provider agrees to maintain good information governance standards and practices, by meeting or exceeding the data protection requirements relevant for its services.

19. The Provider shall not share the personal data with any third party without the prior written permission of David Travers or process personal data in any way or for any purpose that it has not been instructed and authorised by David Travers, or sub-contract a third party to process David Travers' personal data without the prior knowledge and written agreement of David Travers', and only then having provided all the necessary assurance and guarantees of their adequate organisational and technical security measures.

20. The Provider shall not transfer or permit the transfer of the personal data on to any territory outside the European Economic Area without the prior knowledge and written agreement of David Travers.

Data Security Requirements

21. The Provider shall:

    a) Have regard to the state of technological development and to the cost of implementing any measures, provide a level of security (including appropriate technical and organisational measures) appropriate to the harm that might result from unauthorised or unlawful processing of personal data or the accidental loss, damage or destruction of personal data and the nature of that personal data.

b) Ensure that access to the personal data is limited to those employees who need access to meet the Provider's obligations under this Agreement.

c) Take reasonable steps to ensure the reliability of their personnel who have access to David Travers' controlled personal data, which shall include ensuring that all staff engaged by the Provider: understand the confidential nature of the personal data; have received appropriate training in data protection prior to their use of the data; and have signed a written undertaking that they understand and will act in accordance with their responsibilities for confidentiality under contract.

d) Ensure that it has properly configured access rights for its staff, including a well-defined starters and leavers process to ensure appropriate access control.

e) Ensure that suitable and effective authentication processes are established and used to protect personal data.

f) Ensure that the personal data is backed up on a regular basis and that any back-up data is subject to vigorous security measures as necessary to protect the availability, integrity and confidentiality of the data

g) Implement robust and tested business continuity measures to protect the confidentiality, integrity and availability of David Travers' controlled personal data.

h) Encrypt data transferred electronically in accordance with national standards.

i) Ensure that employees are not able to access data remotely, e.g. from home or via their own electronic device or internet portal, other than through a secure electronic network and in accordance with an organisational remote working policy.

j) Only dispose of data securely and confidentially when it requires disposal.

Information Breach Incident Reporting

22. The Provider shall have procedures in place to monitor access and to identify unauthorised and unlawful access and use of personal data.

23. The Provider shall immediately report to David Travers any information security incidents relating to a personal data subject whose personal data controlled by David Travers and undertakes to also fully cooperate with David Travers' incident investigation requirements.

24. It is David Travers' responsibility as Data Controller to ensure that the incident is reported in accordance with the law and informing the relevant data subjects as appropriate.

Secure Destruction

25. The Provider shall ensure that personal data held in paper form (regardless of whether originally provided by David Travers or printed from the Provider's systems) is destroyed using a cross cut shredder or subcontracted to a confidential waste company.

26. The Data Processor shall ensure that electronic storage media used to hold or to process personal data is destroyed or overwritten when no longer in use.

27. In the event of any bad or unusable sectors on electronic media that cannot be overwritten, the Provider shall ensure complete and irretrievable destruction of the media itself.

28. The Provider shall provide David Travers with copies of all relevant overwriting verification reports and/or certificates of secure destruction of personal data at the conclusion of the contract, if requested.

Variations

29. Any variation to the terms of this contract shall be agreed in writing by the Parties and in accordance with the contract management conditions set out in any Main Contract.

Dispute Resolution

30. The Parties shall aim to resolve all disputes, differences and questions by means of co-operation and consultation and in accordance with any dispute resolution process specified in the Main Contract.

Termination

31. David Travers may terminate this Agreement with immediate effect by written notice to the Provider on or at any time after the occurrence of an event that gives rise to an information security incident or otherwise poses a risk of non-compliance with the data protection principles.
32. Upon this Agreement ending the Provider shall securely return any personal data held or make arrangements for its secure destruction upon being instructed to do so by David Travers.

PRIVACY NOTICE

I will take all possible steps to protect your personal information. I am determined to do nothing that would infringe your rights or undermine your trust. This Privacy Notice describes the information I collect about you, how it is used and shared, and your rights regarding it.

Privacy Notice for Data Subjects under Article 13 GDPR

This Privacy Notice applies to data subjects who have sent me their personal data.

Privacy Notice for Data Subjects under Article 14 GDPR

This Privacy Notice applies to data subjects who have not sent me their personal data but where I have received that personal data via a third party.

Data Controller

I am registered with the ICO as a Data Controller for the personal data that I hold and process as a barrister. My registered address is Chambers of Stephen Hockman QC, 6 Pump Court, Temple, London, EC4Y 7AR and my ICO registration number is Z7371732

Data Collection

All the information that I hold about you is provided to or gathered by me in the course of a case and/or proceedings and/or for another reason connected to my practice as a barrister. If you have instructed me via a solicitor, your solicitor and I are Joint Data Controllers and we will tell you why we need the information and how we will use it. If you have instructed me via direct access or have not instructed me to represent you, I will be the applicable Data Controller and I will tell you why I need the information and how I will use it

I collect and process both personal data and special categories of personal data as defined in the GDPR. This includes:

- Names
- Emails

- Phone numbers
- Addresses
- Payment or bank details
- Dates of birth
- Location details
- Financial information
- Medical Records
- Criminal Records

Lawful Basis for Processing

The GDPR requires all organisations that process personal data to have a Lawful Basis for doing so. The Lawful Bases identified in the GDPR are:

- Consent of the data subject
- Performance of a contract with the data subject or to take steps to enter into a contract
- Compliance with a legal obligation
- To protect the vital interests of a data subject or another person
- Performance of a task carried out in the public interest or in the exercise of official authority vested in the controller
- The legitimate interests of the data controller, or a third party, except where such interests are overridden by the interests, rights or freedoms of the data subject

Examples of legitimate interests include:

- Where the data subject is a client or in the service of the controller

- Transmission within a group of undertakings for internal administrative purposes
- Processing necessary to ensure network and information security, including preventing unauthorised access
- Processing for direct marketing purposes, or to prevent fraud
- Reporting possible criminal acts or threats to public security

The Lawful Basis on which I will process your data is that of my legitimate interests and my legitimate interests are, variously as the case may be:

- That I need to process your personal data as you are my lay client and I cannot represent you without processing your personal data.
- That you are a potential client and I need to process your personal data to market to you or to engage with you with a view to you becoming my client.
- That you are part of an instructing body or professional client such as a firm of solicitors or instructing department, and I cannot be instructed by you without processing your personal data.
- That you are my employee or a member, employee, contractor, staff member, pupil or mini-pupil of Chambers, or a prospective member of any of those classes of person, and I need to process your personal data in order to facilitate that relationship.
- That you are an opponent on a case, an employee of the Courts or another tribunal, a witness, family member or friend or other contact of my client, a judge or other decision maker, a member of a regulatory body such as the BSB, a member of the Bar Council, or any other third party of any other description whose personal data I will process for any reason howsoever connected to my practice, and in each case I will need to process your personal data in order to operate as a barrister.

Use

I use your information to:

- Provide legal advice and representation
- Assist in training pupils and mini-pupils
- Investigate and address your concerns
- Communicate with you about news, updates and events
- Investigate or address legal proceedings relating to your use of my services/products, or as otherwise allowed by applicable law
- Make statutory returns as required by HMRC, the BSB or any other body

I do not use automated decision-making in the processing of your personal data.

Sharing

I may share your personal data with:

- Instructing solicitors or departments
- Pupils or mini-pupils under my training or under the training of other members of Chambers
- Other members of my Chambers
- Opposing counsel
- My Chambers management and staff who provide administrative services such as clerks
- The Bar Standards Board or other regulatory body or legal advisors in the event of a dispute or other legal matter
- Law enforcement officials, government authorities, or other third parties to meet my legal obligations

- Publicly by way of marketing or advertisement where your case has been published in a law report or otherwise
- Judicial appointment bodies or legal rankings services
- Service providers carrying out services for me, such as ICT or internet service providers

Transfers Outside the UK

I may transfer personal data to third countries or international organisations using identified safeguards because I need to do so in order to operate a cloud computing data storage model for my practice. I may transfer personal data to the USA via Microsoft Corporation using its Microsoft OneDrive and Office products, and I have satisfied myself that Microsoft Corporation is accredited under the US-EU Privacy Shield programme.

I am satisfied that such transferred data is fully protected and safeguarded as required by the GDPR.

Retention

I retain your personal data while you remain a data subject whose data I have a legitimate interest in processing. My Retention and Disposal Policy (see above) details how long I hold data for and how I dispose of it when it no longer needs to be held. I will delete or anonymise your information at your request unless:

- There is an unresolved issue, such as a complaint, claim or dispute
- I am legally required to, or
- There are overriding legitimate interests, including but not limited to fraud prevention and protecting customers' safety and security.

Your Rights

The GDPR gives you specific rights around your personal data. For example, you have to be informed about the information I hold and what I use it for, you can ask for a copy of the personal information I hold about you, you can ask me to correct any inaccuracies with the personal data I hold, you can ask me to stop sending you direct mail, or emails, or in some circumstances ask me to stop processing your details. Finally, if I do something irregular or improper with your personal data you can seek compensation for any distress you are caused or loss you have incurred. You can find out more information from the ICO's website and this is the organisation that you can complain to if you are unhappy with how I dealt with you.

Accessing and Correcting Personal Data

You may request access to, correction of, or a copy of your information by contacting me via Chambers.

Updates

I will occasionally update my Privacy Notice. When I make significant changes, I will publish the updated Notice on my website profile.
